

HORSES DON'T CLIMB COCONUT TREES

Feeding Your Horse for Better Health and Performance

CoolStance is made exclusively from the white flesh of the coconut called copra. This feed contains no other ingredients. The oil is extracted mechanically (no chemicals are used).

CoolStance is brown because it has been processed with low heat during the expelling process. The low temperatures do not change the oil, nor harm the product.

The copra meal used in CoolStance is 100% GMO (Genetically Modified Organisms) and chemical free.

CoolStance is sourced from the Pacific Islands. There are many sources of copra in the world; however there are only a few sources that meet the high standards of Stance Equine, the producer of CoolStance.

CoolStance contains: only 11% NSC, 10% coconut oil, 15% fiber and 20% protein and high DE (digestible energy). No fillers or grains are used in this feed, purely 100% coconut meal.

Simply feed CoolStance 2-8lb/day with medium quality grass hay. Add a mineral and/or vitamin supplement if your grass/hay profile or exercise level requires it.

CoolStance may be fed mixed with water or dry, CoolStance absorbs water at a ratio of 1:3.

CoolStance can be fed to all horses for cool, calm energy that provides a shiny coat, better muscle development, especially the muscles of the top line, and improves overall health from the inside out.

CoolStance can be fed to metabolically challenged horses (EPSM, Laminitis, Cushing's etc.). Recommend removing all sources of NSC (grain) from the diet and follow feed instructions above.

Avoid PUFA (Poly Unsaturated Fatty Acids, also known as commercial vegetable seed oils).

If your horse requires additional energy, add coconut oil, which is also available from Stance Equine in a separate form: Power Stance. This oil is delivered in a palatable powder form.

Older horses with dental problems will benefit from the unique nutritional properties of CoolStance, which can be offered in the form of a soft mash.

Today's challenges call for better nutrition for our equine partners. Stance Equine meets those demands with a clean feed you can trust.
